Tips and Suggestions!

Know your Climate

Knowing your climate zone will allow you to determine which plants are most likely to survive in your area. A common mistake is choosing plants that do not thrive in your climate conditions. Also, remember that plants are sensitive to shade and sunny conditions. Make sure to choose plants based on the amount of shade and sun exposure they will receive. We have plants that thrive in many conditions, and we are always here to help make your choices easy.

Finding the Time

If you want to spend a lot of time collecting unique and exotic plants, we have them. Tending to a variety of plants can be fun and challenging. However, if you need help figuring out what you can plant to spruce things up in the yard without having to be in the yard all summer, we have you covered.

Blooming year Around

Planning your planting to ensure blooming year around is certain to impress your friends and neighbors. To accomplish this, make sure to layer your blooming plants in throughout the season. You should also plant blooming or interest plants for each season. Lastly, just because Wisconsin has long winters doesn't mean you shouldn't plan for the winter season. We can help you plan the cold months as well.

Knowledge

If you feel overwhelmed by the tips above, don't worry. The Wreath Factory and Otter Creek Landscape experts are always available to help you make the right choices and to assist you in planning. We can assist you with:

- Irrigation
- Low voltage lighting
- Yard spruce up
- Landscape planning and design
- Landscape install
- Retaining wall, patio, driveway installation
- Expert installing previous patios and driveways

And Much More!!!!
